GOVERNMENT IS CRITICIZED AS PARTISAN

Mr. T. D. Pattullo Deals Briefly With Record of Conservative Administration in Province

SAYS CIVIL SERVICE UNDER RESTRAINT

Declines Responsibility for Deficit of Year Ending March 31, 1929, as Filed Tuesday

MR. T. D. PATTULLO, leader of the Opposition, in the Legislature yesterday, after a spirited attack upon the Government, concluded by offering to facilitate the transaction of public business to allow the address in reply to that of His Honor to pass forthwith. Mr. Pattullo, in making this proposal, said that he was speaking for the Opposition which was anxious to get along with the business of the session.

The leader of the Opposition attacked the Government on the ground that it was the most partisan one the province had had. The civil service was suffering from the restraint which arose from a feeling "that the gibbils will get you if you don't look out." But this partisanship did not apply only to the civil service, but was in evidence in the dismissal and appointment of justices of the peace, coroners and other officials.

He criticized the speeches made by members of the Government before the election as compared with the action since, and contended that it was not enough to recall the misdeeds of the former Government. "We have suffered," he said, "for what we did."

Mr. Pattullo would not accept the responsibility which was attempted to be placed on the former Government for the deficit of $3,000,000 for the year ending March 31, 1929. The present Government had been in power for four months of that time, and would have to take its share. He further attacked the financing of the present Government and its reckless expenditure. He also charged it with not having kept faith with the public in the face of the pre-election promises. It had been said that it got into power by false pretences and it certainly was keeping in power by such means. The P.G.E. special survey was not necessary, he believed, and he intimated that the railway companies were not really anxious to give the Peace

BIG SELLING OF OIL SHARES ON LOCAL MARKET

Following Conspiracy Charges Made Against Toronto Brokers, Rush to Sell Stock Takes Place

NINE NEW "LOWS" FOR YEAR ARE MADE
Due, without doubt, to the conspiracy charges made against Toronto brokers yesterday and reported here early this morning, and without even a hint of any unsatisfactory conditions at the well, panic selling took place on the oil market, there being a rush to sell. Nobody, apparently, wanted to buy. It seemed that everyone wanted to "get out." Nine stocks hit new "lows" for the year, and only four of those which were quoted on the board showed increased quotations.

Two offices in the city are branch firms of some of the brokers who have been charged. They are Stobie, Forlong & Company, and Soloway, Mills & Company. A representative of the former firm stated that the business here was not suspended and was being carried on as usual. The new office now being fitted up for the firm on Government Street, which was to have been opened today, will not, it was said, be opened today as intended. It was understood at the office of Soloway, Mills & Company yesterday

TEN ARRESTS AND OFFICES ARE RAIDED

Many Brokers Taken by Police on Charges of Conspiracy to Defraud and Strong Action Follows

SEVERAL CONCERNS SUSPENDING WORK

Stock Exchange and Standard and Mining Exchange Suspend Firms Membership While Charges Hang

(Canadian Press)
TORONTO, Jan. 30.—Ten arrests, the issuance of three warrants against three other persons, and the assignment of Stobie, Forlong & Company, a prominent Toronto brokerage firm, were the salient developments today in the investigation being prosecuted by the Ontario Attorney-General's Department, into the present methods of trading on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange.

A few hours after Attorney-General W. H. Price had foreshadowed disclosures regarding the operations of a number of prominent trading brokerage houses, members of the Exchange, provincial and city police, in simultaneous raids, arrested the principals and other officials of four of the largest local companies dealing in mining securities, at their homes at 7:45 o'clock this morning.

OFFICES ARE RAIDED

The arrests were rapidly followed by raids on the downtown offices of the four firms, seizure of their books and documents, and announcement by the Attorney-General that their accounts, including their bank accounts, had been seized for the protection of the "people who trade."

A little later the board of directors

Swedish Queen Seriously Ill In Rome Villa

By WILLIAM H. STONEMAN (Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service)

ROME, Italy, Jan. 30.—Queen Victoria of Sweden, who for two years now has been fighting for her life against the ravages of bronchial infection, is reported to be mortally ill at her villa in Rome, where she has been living for two years. Her present critical condition developed on Monday night when her fever rose rapidly, and since then the doctors have been at her bedside constantly, administering stimulants to keep her weak heart from failing.

King Gustaf arrived in Rome yesterday after being delayed in Stockholm for some time by the opening of Parliament, and is staying at the villa to hear his royal wife. Queen Victoria, whose poor health has necessitated her being away from Sweden much of the time since her marriage in 1881, has been in a grave condition since four and a half months ago, when she was brought back to Rome from Baden-Baden, Germany, where she had been taking the cure.

Canadians Must Think of Greater Future With All It Means, States Leader

By THOMAS GREEN (Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service)

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 30.—Visualizing a greater Canada as part and parcel of the great British Empire, Hon. R. B. Bennett, before the Canadian Club here today, appealed to Canadians for a full realization of their obligation and responsibilities of the future. The Conservative leader reminded his large audience of the benefits the Dominion had received and the equality of status now enjoyed by Canada within the Empire. And then he made his urgent appeal for consideration of future responsibilities within the Empire.

"The glory of a great past," Mr. Bennett declared, "is ever before us. The responsibility of a greater future is before us. Let us measure up to the great responsibility not only as citizens of this great Canada but as part of that greater entity, the British Empire."

OBIGATION OF CITIZENSHIP

Mr. Bennett then put the question: "What of the future? That is the problem thoughtful men and women should be about. We have survived. The future is before us. The choice is before us. The determination of our future is with us without coercion. But the obligation of citizenship that is upon us is a recognition of what has been done for us by the great Empire to which we belong. Let us look upon our problems not merely as Canadians, but as part of the great Empire."

Mr. Bennett declared greatly in support of his suggestion that there were people in Downing Street who were considering methods by which to keep Canada "under" if Canada wished to become an independent country, he continued. Great Britain would

Japan's Delegates Talk With Premier

THE prime delegates of Japan to the Five-Power Conference at present in session in London, England, are here seen during their preliminary meeting with the British Prime Minister, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, at No. 10 Downing Street. The group above includes, left to right: Admiral Takarabe, Mr. Reijiro Wakatsuki, head of the Japanese delegation; Rt. Hon. Ramsay MacDonald; Mr. Matsudaire, the Japanese Ambassador to Great Britain, and Mr. Saigo. It is said that Japan hopes to obtain recognition of the justice of her claim to a 70 per cent ratio for big cruisers, although they have not as yet broached the matter before the naval conference.

Britain Preparing to Inquire Into Economic Ills of Nation And to Provide for Solution

(Associated Press)
LONDON, Jan. 30.—The Economic Advisory Council upon which Prime Minister MacDonald counts greatly for the successful solution of Great Britain's economic ills, will consist of five members of the cabinet and such other persons chosen by the Prime Minister because of their special knowledge and experience in industry and economics.

The chief duty of the council will be to advise the Government on economic matters, to study developments in trade and industry, and the effects on them of legislation, to examine the fiscal policy at home and abroad, and to observe all aspects of national, Imperial and international economy with reference to their bearing on the prosperity of the country.

The chairman of the council will be the Prime Minister.

The other cabinet members will be the Chancellor of the Exchequer, the Lord Privy Seal, who is now engaged in the unemployment problem, the president of the Board of Trade and the Minister of Agriculture, and other ministers as may be summoned from time to time by the Prime Minister, who will work on the council.

The difficult search in hard-packed ice ninety miles southwest of North Cape, Siberia, was being carried on today by seven men, digging over about 10,000 square yards where parts of the plane, cargo and equipment had been strewn and buried by winter storms during nearly three months since the accident occurred. Elison and Borland were flying to the trading ship Nanuk, leeward at North Cape, from Teller, Alaska, when they disappeared on November 9.

Their wrecked ship was located Saturday by Pilots Joe Crosson and Harold Gilliam.

Resigned to the belief that his famous son is dead, the elder Elison expects to take charge of the body when he reaches Alaska. A chamber of commerce committee of personal friends of the aviator will meet Ole Elison here tomorrow.

They hope to persuade him to approve the movement to have the flyer buried in Arlington Cemetery, Washington, D.C., with honors accorded others who have rendered distinguished service to their country.

Friends recommending burial at Arlington Cemetery point out that Lieutenant Elison, at thirty-two, was a World War flyer, the first aviator in Alaska and pilot for Sir Hubert Wilkins in the flight across the top of the world from Point Barrow to Spitzbergen and in important explorations in the Antarctic.

After being deprived of a Parliament for seven years, the nation wants one strongly, and Premier Berenguer is making an effort to obtain the collaboration of Senor Francisco Camba, financial expert, who is believed could tackle successfully the problem of the peseta, which improved several points yesterday. It was the slump of the peseta which helped end De Rivera's dictatorship.

Gen. de Rivera's record of 2,326 days in office, unrivaled by any Government since the distant days of Manuel de Godoy, Minister under Ferdinand VII, whom it took Napoleon to remove, ends exactly a year after the landing of Sanchez Guerra at Valencia to lead a rebellion against the dictator.

Calgary Airmen Still Fogbound Near Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Jan. 30.—Lieut. W. L. Rutledge and Percy Payne, Calgary airmen, who yesterday attempted a Calgary to Vancouver flight, are still at Merritt, where they were forced to land owing to fog. Merritt is about 140 miles east of Vancouver.

Weather conditions near Merritt prevented their taking off for Vancouver.

IDENTIFY BODY

VANCOUVER, Jan. 30.—The body of a man struck down by a Canadian Pacific Railway train, near Hastings Park on Tuesday, was identified yesterday as that of Joseph Eber, a longshoreman, living in a boathouse east of the Second Narrows Bridge. He was a Chilean and married. A verdict of accidental death was returned by a coroner's jury.

NAVAL CONFERENCE DOWN TO BEDROCK

First Public Plenary Session Discloses Differences in Views on Several Points—Premier MacDonald Makes Light of Them—Italian Delegate Strikes Jarring Note on Two Items

Gt. Britain Claims Navy As First Line of Defence

(Associated Press Cable)
LONDON, Jan. 30.—The old problem of limitation of naval armament by global tonnage as against limitation by categories, moved towards a solution. The Five-Power Naval Conference today referred this question to a special committee for consideration and to report. The committee has still to be officially appointed. But the preliminary Anglo-American conversations, it is intimated, have already advanced far along the road to success.

NEARING SOLUTION

At the press conference with Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, following the third plenary session of the naval conference, it was announced that delegates were within measurable distance of a solution of the problem which so far has defied solution.

The special committee may be expected to report agreement on the method of measurement of naval strength.

France and Great Britain have at previous conferences advanced vitally opposite views on methods of naval limitation. France wants limitation by global tonnage, or tonnage of a navy as a whole, each country using its tonnage among the different classes of vessels as it thinks best.

BRITISH PROPOSALS

The British thesis would limit by categories or specific types of ships, so much tonnage for battleships, so much for cruisers and so forth. At Geneva in 1927 the French proposed a compromise which divided global tonnage into four main categories.

These were subsequently increased to five. Now this compromise goes to the special committee.

And at the press conference with the Prime Minister it was further intimated that the partition between the British and French points of view was so thin that if a candle was placed on one side its light would be seen through.

When today's plenary session of the conference opened early struck a rather jarring note. Signor Dino Grandi, Italian Foreign Minister, had on the agenda two items:

1. Determination of ratios.

OFFICE MOVE EXPLAINED TO B.C. GROWERS

Deputy Minister of Agriculture Tells Delegates Reasons Why Commissioner's Office Is Removed

VANCOUVER, Jan. 30.—At the invitation of the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association, Mr. John B. Munro, deputy minister of agriculture for British Columbia, appeared before today's session of the convention of the association to explain the reasons for closing the market commissioner's office in Calgary. The convention last night had adopted a resolution asking the minister to appear before the convention.

EXPLAINS OFFICE CHANGE
Mr. Munro stated that the commissioner was moved from Calgary to Victoria in the interest of centralization of control during the four dormant fruit marketing months of the year. He explained that when the fruit season reaches its height, commissioners will be sent to the Prairie points where their services will be most valuable. The speaker also dwelt on the discontinuance of the market bulletin. He said that the publication was abolished because its cost was not justified as compared to its value. Release of weekly bulletins would be continued, however, he said.

N.B. Surplus Is $9,000; Revenue Largest Secured

(Canadian Press)
FREDERICTON, N. B., Jan. 30.—The province of New Brunswick has a surplus of $9,000 on its ordinary revenue account for the fiscal year closing October 31, 1929, according to the annual financial statement. Total revenue was $9,567,238, the largest in the province's history, and the expenditure account amounted to $9,558,238.

The New Brunswick Liquor Control Board provided the revenue account with its largest figure, $1,522,496, in net profits for the year. Dominion subsidies amounted to $1,240,301.

Outcome of Pool Crop Marketing Is Not Feared

VANCOUVER, Jan. 30.—"I have no fear of the outcome of the plans of the Wheat Pool for the marketing of the 1929 crop," declared Mr. Colin H. Burnell, president of the Manitoba Wheat Pool, in an address to the Vancouver Board of Trade today.

"The producers are standing firmly behind us in our decision to wait for better prices, even though they have not yet received the last payments for last year's crop. They are remaining loyal, and that, after all, is the main thing."

Soviet Vandalism Dumbs Bells That Have Rung Thousand Years

(Associated Press Cable)
MOSCOW, Jan. 30.—Moscow's "forty times forty" churches, which for a thousand years have pealed their bells, no longer will be heard. The Government today ordered them silenced forever. An official statement explained the action as taken in response to "the mass demands" from workers that the bells be hushed because they disturbed their peace and sleep and created other nuisances.

Similar ordinances are already in effect in other cities and towns, and it is believed that today's action applying to the Red capital foreshadows ultimate wrappings of all church bells and their conversion into commercial bronze, copper and silver, so much needed by the Government in its industrialization plan.

Finally, consider the squabbles in the Church of England, which some one has described as "much ado about nothing in particular," from the point of view of the ordinary intelligent laymen. That Church is not only divided against itself and apparently in danger of being split in fragments, it is also a quarrel of hands with Parliament. Parliament has a quarrel on its hands with it. One Parliamentarian has said that the Bishop of Birmingham should be in jail. The leader of the Church has declared that no dictation by Parliament will be tolerated. Mr. Cheesterton, a convert to the Catholic faith, says he has seen England degenerate from a Christian country to a pagan nation, and

During this time the following localities were surveyed and charts published by the Admiralty, of Vancouver Island East Coast to, and including Nanaimo, Nanoose Bay, Bayne's Sound and Comox Harbor, Gulf of Georgia, northern portion, Discovery Passage, Seymour Narrows, Johnson and Broughton Straits, Queen Charlotte Sound and the whole of Dixon Entrance and the Queen's Sound, and

A small boy went into a South Boston drug store, wrinkled his face, rubbed his head and rubbed his left foot up and down right leg in an effort to remember something that had escaped him.
"Say," he began, "will you tell me the name of the place where we Americans have so many soldiers?"
"Fort Sheridan."
"Oh, no. It's farther away than that."
"The Philippines?"
"That ain't just it, but it's somewhere around there."
"Perhaps you mean Manila?"
"Manila! That's right! I knew I would get it after a while. I want a bottle of manila extract for flavorin'." They're going to have ice cream.—Boston Transcript.

It's a little thing to do,
Just to think
Anyone, no matter who,
Ought to think.
Take a little time each day
From the minutes thrown away;
Spare it from your work or play—
Stop and think!

You will find that men who fail
Do not think.
Men who fling themselves in jail
Do not think.
Half the trouble that we see,
Trouble brewed for you and me,
Probably would never be
If we'd think.

Shall we, then, consider this?
Shall we think?
Shall we journey lit or miss?
Or shall we think?
Let's not go along by guess.
But rather to ourselves confess
It would help us more or less
If we'd think!

Wife—I'm afraid, Harold, you do not love me any more—at least, not so much as you used to.
Husband—Why?
"Because you always let me get up to light the fire now."
"Nonsense, my dear. Your getting up to light the fire makes me love you all the more."

SAANICH HONORS SIDNEY PIONEERS

Mr. and Mrs. William R. Armstrong Are Recipients of Whole-Hearted Valutudinary Good Will

A surprise social, jointly organized by the Saanich Pioneers' Society and by the United Church, and having for its object the bidding farewell to Mr. and Mrs. William R. Armstrong, was held on Wednesday evening at the Wesley Hall, Sidney, when one of the largest gatherings of pioneers which has ever been held on the Saanich Peninsula, assembled to do honor to Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong, who are among the oldest settlers in the district.

A committee of pioneers escorted Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong to the hall while the pipes played "Happy We've Been a Trifler." Mr. Alex McDonald, from the chair, spoke of the energy of the Armstrongs in advancing the district during the past fifty years, and expressed regret that they should be leaving Vancouver Island to take up their abode in New Westminster.

Rev. Mr. Lees and Mr. Alex Thompson, who was the first white child to be born in Saanich, presented Mrs. Armstrong with a beautiful memento unholstered chair, while Mr. Armstrong was given a similar chair.

At The Playhouses

VARIETY How United States prohibition agents enforce the Volstead Act is thrillingly depicted in "Pat Piper's Place," the brilliant comedy-drama success with which the popular Toby Leitch Players are nightly attracting big audiences to the Variety Theatre. The art of Raymond Toby Leitch, himself, is shown at its best in this gripping comedy-drama. Toby's inimitable comedy scintillates throughout each of the three acts, his every appearance on the stage being a prelude to uproarious laughter.

COLISEUM The tuneful numbers of the ever-popular "Desert Song" are being heard all this week at the Coliseum Theatre, where that picture is showing to large houses, although it has already shown twice before in Victoria. The picture is one of the finest ever seen in Victoria and the audience this week are composed of people who missed this superb feature when it was here before and people anxious to see it again and hear its delightful music.

BORDONI Picture Will Appear at Capitol Monday

Paris is a city of gaiety and light and fun—and music.

And "Paris," the first National picture starring Irene Bordoni, which opens Monday at the Capitol Theatre for a six-day run, is just like the city in all these respects—no least in that of music.

The score of the production, in fact, is fairly overflowing with melody. Among the outstanding numbers are such tinkling and tuneful creations as "Miss Wonderful," "My Lover, Master of My Heart," "Somebody Mighty Like You," and "I Wonder What Is Really On His Mind."

The presentation of a life membership with Mrs. H. H. Hood, president of the United Church of Canada, W.M.S., was one of the interesting episodes of yesterday's afternoon session in connection with the annual meeting being held at the Metropolitan Church.

The presentation was made, on behalf of the President, by Miss Mitchell, of Nanaimo, who referred to the splendid leadership shown by Mrs. Hood, and her consistently fine activities.

Mrs. Hood, who was observed to be deeply touched by the appreciation expressed in the gift, made a gracious reply.

The day's programme was admirably adhered to, the morning session being given over to departmental reports, the appointment of committees and other routine.

In the afternoon were the departmental reports and the report of the corresponding secretary, Rev. R. J. McIntyre and Rev. George Pringle, and the evening of the delegates and all the young people's societies were represented.

The corresponding secretary's report noted that Wilkinson Road had held its twenty-fifth anniversary during the past year, with all the charter members present.

Mission bands, which reported from Halliburton Street Church, Nanaimo; the Chinese Mission band, Nanaimo; First United Church, Victoria (which has a membership of eighty-nine); the Chinese Mission band and the Japanese Mission band, Victoria.

At the afternoon session Mrs. T. H. Johns gave a solo, and those contributing to the evening session with songs were Misses Carol Menzies and Mrs. Johns.

MORNING SESSION
At the morning session, Mrs. C. E. Sonly, the treasurer, read a report, which was formally adopted, and it was decided to accept $8,000 as the new allocation for the coming year.

Mrs. John Hall, speaking of The Missionary Monthly, urged every woman in the church to subscribe. Mrs. Guy's report as finance secretary noted that the Presbytery had been able to exceed its allocation.

Appointment of committees included the resolutions and courtesy committee, to which Mrs. F. W. Laing, Mrs. W. A. Guy, Mrs. McKee (Courtney), Mrs. Cottell (Nanaimo) and Mrs. Prior (Alberni) were appointed. The nominating committee includes Mrs. W. Graham, Mrs. J. Little, Miss F. Braikie, Miss H. Henderson, Mrs. J. H. Armitage, Mrs. W. E. McIntyre and Mrs. S. Howard.

Mrs. J. J. Hutton, recording secretary, presented an interesting summary of the year's work. Regular meetings had been held throughout the year; all books bearing missionaryaries had been met with gifts of books and flowers. Two receptions had been given, one for Mrs. J. P. Westman on her departure, and one for Miss Chang, a Chinese missionaryary.

$8,000 ALLOCATION
Mrs. J. G. MacFarlane, the Associate Helpers' secretary, told of 207 members and the amount raised $795.84. Mrs. M. C. Wilkinson, press secretary, in her report, tendered thanks to The Times and The Colonist for their co-operation throughout the year.

STRANGERS WELCOMED
Mrs. F. W. Laing, strangers' secretary, reported that 100 letters had been written. St. Joseph's and Jubilee Hospital visited every week by members of the different auxiliaries; strangers visited, 482; removals reported, 14; visited patients in hospital, 647; visited at home and on return from hospital, 668; new Canadians under instruction in English, 23; strangers cared for, 1,002; other than strangers cared for by the strangers' secretary and her committee, 654.

A resolution that election of officers for the association should be deferred last night at the second session of the annual general meeting of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada, Unit No. 12, which was held in the premises of the Victoria unit on lower Fort Street.

A special committee, under the chairmanship of Mr. George Gardiner, had been appointed at the monthly meeting of the executive last December by the retiring president of the organization, and had subjected the by-laws of the Victoria unit to a complete revision.

Among a number of recommendations which were brought in by this committee, that which had to do with the election of officers by ballot through the mail was subjected to the most extended discussion. Mr. C. Holden, second vice-president of the unit, offered a suggestion that absentees should confide their ballot paper to an accredited member of the organization, but the general consensus of opinion was in favor of the continuance of the system of absentees voting through the mail.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the special committee, to which Mr. Gardiner responded. Mr. Albert Down, president of the Victoria unit, spoke of the possibility of success during the coming year, pointing out that this depended not upon the officers, but upon the general membership, which should make itself responsible for the attendance at the regular monthly meetings.

BISHOP IS DEAD
CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—The Most Rev. Charles Palmerston Anderson, presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States of America, died today.

At the morning session, Mrs. C. E. Sonly, the treasurer, read a report, which was formally adopted, and it was decided to accept $8,000 as the new allocation for the coming year.

St. Joseph's and Jubilee Hospital visited every week by members of the different auxiliaries; strangers visited, 482; removals reported, 14; visited patients in hospital, 647; visited at home and on return from hospital, 668; new Canadians under instruction in English, 23; strangers cared for, 1,002; other than strangers cared for by the strangers' secretary and her committee, 654.

A resolution that election of officers for the association should be deferred last night at the second session of the annual general meeting of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada, Unit No. 12, which was held in the premises of the Victoria unit on lower Fort Street.

A special committee, under the chairmanship of Mr. George Gardiner, had been appointed at the monthly meeting of the executive last December by the retiring president of the organization, and had subjected the by-laws of the Victoria unit to a complete revision.

Among a number of recommendations which were brought in by this committee, that which had to do with the election of officers by ballot through the mail was subjected to the most extended discussion. Mr. C. Holden, second vice-president of the unit, offered a suggestion that absentees should confide their ballot paper to an accredited member of the organization, but the general consensus of opinion was in favor of the continuance of the system of absentees voting through the mail.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the special committee, to which Mr. Gardiner responded. Mr. Albert Down, president of the Victoria unit, spoke of the possibility of success during the coming year, pointing out that this depended not upon the officers, but upon the general membership, which should make itself responsible for the attendance at the regular monthly meetings.

BISHOP IS DEAD
CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—The Most Rev. Charles Palmerston Anderson, presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States of America, died today.

At the morning session, Mrs. C. E. Sonly, the treasurer, read a report, which was formally adopted, and it was decided to accept $8,000 as the new allocation for the coming year.

Mrs. John Hall, speaking of The Missionary Monthly, urged every woman in the church to subscribe. Mrs. Guy's report as finance secretary noted that the Presbytery had been able to exceed its allocation.

Appointment of committees included the resolutions and courtesy committee, to which Mrs. F. W. Laing, Mrs. W. A. Guy, Mrs. McKee (Courtney), Mrs. Cottell (Nanaimo) and Mrs. Prior (Alberni) were appointed. The nominating committee includes Mrs. W. Graham, Mrs. J. Little, Miss F. Braikie, Miss H. Henderson, Mrs. J. H. Armitage, Mrs. W. E. McIntyre and Mrs. S. Howard.

Mrs. J. J. Hutton, recording secretary, presented an interesting summary of the year's work. Regular meetings had been held throughout the year; all books bearing missionaryaries had been met with gifts of books and flowers. Two receptions had been given, one for Mrs. J. P. Westman on her departure, and one for Miss Chang, a Chinese missionaryary.

$8,000 ALLOCATION
Mrs. J. G. MacFarlane, the Associate Helpers' secretary, told of 207 members and the amount raised $795.84. Mrs. M. C. Wilkinson, press secretary, in her report, tendered thanks to The Times and The Colonist for their co-operation throughout the year.

Banquet Tendered Delegates Last Evening at Metropolitan Church Attracts Many

The presentation of a life membership with Mrs. H. H. Hood, president of the United Church of Canada, W.M.S., was one of the interesting episodes of yesterday's afternoon session in connection with the annual meeting being held at the Metropolitan Church.

The presentation was made, on behalf of the President, by Miss Mitchell, of Nanaimo, who referred to the splendid leadership shown by Mrs. Hood, and her consistently fine activities.

Mrs. Hood, who was observed to be deeply touched by the appreciation expressed in the gift, made a gracious reply.

The day's programme was admirably adhered to, the morning session being given over to departmental reports, the appointment of committees and other routine.

In the afternoon were the departmental reports and the report of the corresponding secretary, Rev. R. J. McIntyre and Rev. George Pringle, and the evening of the delegates and all the young people's societies were represented.

The corresponding secretary's report noted that Wilkinson Road had held its twenty-fifth anniversary during the past year, with all the charter members present.

Mission bands, which reported from Halliburton Street Church, Nanaimo; the Chinese Mission band, Nanaimo; First United Church, Victoria (which has a membership of eighty-nine); the Chinese Mission band and the Japanese Mission band, Victoria.

At the afternoon session Mrs. T. H. Johns gave a solo, and those contributing to the evening session with songs were Misses Carol Menzies and Mrs. Johns.

New Beauty for the New Ford

THE NEW FORD TOWN SEDAN

In the Town Sedan you see a distinguished example of the unbroken sweep of line which adds so much charm and grace to all the new, roomy Ford bodies. Radiator, hood, cowl, lower roof line, fenders, wheels—every point of design reflects the new style and beauty that have been placed within the means of every one. All of the new Ford cars are finished in a variety of colors.

ANOTHER STEP FORWARD

THE introduction of the new Ford bodies has set a new high standard of motor car value. From the new deep radiator to the tip of the curving rear fender, there is an unbroken sweep of line—a flowing grace of contour gaining added charm from the rich and attractive colors. « « « « « «

You will take a real pride in the smart style and fresh new beauty of the Ford just as you will find an ever-growing satisfaction in its safety, comfort, speed, acceleration, ease of control, reliability and economy. In appearance, as in mechanical construction, craftsmanship has been put into mass production. New beauty has been added to outstanding performance.

A feature of unusual interest is the use of Rustless Steel for the radiator shell, head lamps, cowl finish strip, hub caps, tail lamp and other exposed metal parts. This steel will not rust, corrode or tarnish and will retain its bright brilliance for the life of the car. Here, as in so many other important details, you see evidence of the enduring quality that has been built into the new Ford.

PERMIT SOUGHT

DESIRES WESTERN PACIFIC
CONNECTIONStretch of 200 Miles Would Aid
Pacific Coast in Many Ways

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 30.—Not duplication of present rail service but saving $13,000,000 in building 200 miles of line so as to permit 38,000 miles of existing rail lines worth $2,305,432,000 to render the service of which they are capable, is the issue involved in the application of the Great Northern and Western Pacific to connect their systems. So declares a brief reviewing the testimony presented at the recent hearing on the application filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission by the applicant roads.

The brief points out that the cost of connecting these rail lines so as to permit them to render the public service of which they are capable is less than one-half of one percent of the investment in the lines. That necessity exists for the proposed lines, aside from the need for railway competition, says the brief, is evidenced by the rapidly increasing flow of traffic between California and the Pacific Northwest. At the present rate of increase this will necessitate double-tracking of the Southern Pacific's Shasta route within twelve to fourteen years at a cost of $40,000,000. The proposed connection of the Great Northern and Western Pacific would relieve the Southern Pacific line so as to defer the investment in double-tracking for a sufficient period that the interest saved alone would equal the cost of the proposed connection, declares the brief.

COMMANDER NICHOLLS
New marine superintendent for the Canadian National Railway, who arrived at Vancouver on Wednesday to take over his duties.

vestment in double-tracking for a sufficient period that the interest saved alone would equal the cost of the proposed connection, declares the brief.

A few years hence, states the brief, the position of the Pacific Northwest and California, being connected by but one line of railroad will appear as preposterous as would a rail monopoly on traffic between New York and Chicago or between Chicago and the Pacific Coast.

Shippers and receivers of freight served by the Western Pacific and its subsidiaries in California, the brief recites, are compelled to pay local freight charges in addition to line haul freight rates on traffic destined to or originating in the Pacific Northwest. Construction of the connection will permit offering through rates via Pacific Northwest gateways which do not now exist, and will enable equalizing through freight and passenger rates via the Pacific Northwest with those via central and southern routes, which now are lower.

The brief declares the connection will permit the application to provide through sleeping car service between Vancouver, B.C., Bellingham, Everett and Seattle and San Francisco via the northern route.

Other benefits that will accrue to the Pacific Northwest mentioned in the brief are:

Improved means of access to California markets for the commodities from Central Oregon and Central and Eastern Washington.

Rates from Utah to many points in Southern and Central Oregon and Washington will be reduced.

Freight service between Seattle and California will be one day faster, between Spokane and California two days faster.

The enormous army of California tourists will be given the opportunity of traveling to and from the West via the Pacific Northwest without extra cost.

Central Oregon would be afforded direct rail service to California and the Puget Sound area as well as Spokane.

The brief calls attention to the intervention in behalf of the Great Northern-Western Pacific Application by the Oregon Public Service Commission, the Washington Department of Public Works and chambers of commerce at Seattle, Tacoma, Spokane, Klamath Falls and other points.

The Great Northern-Western Pacific brief will be followed in thirty days by the brief of the opposing Southern Pacific. Twenty days thereafter the applicants will file a reply and then the commission is expected to set a date early in April for the oral argument in Washington. D.C. A decision by early Summer is possible.

Vancouver Island*LADYSMITH RESOLVES ON ENDORSEMENT

Approves Memorandum of Union of British Columbia Municipalities on Taxation Relief

VACANCY OCCURS ON SCHOOL BOARD

LADYSMITH, Jan. 30. — There was a full turnout of aldermen at Wednesday night's meeting, Mayor Reid being in the chair.

After the minutes had been read and passed, the subject of school taxes came up for discussion. The parliamentary agent of the Union of B.C. Municipalities had sent the council a copy of a memorandum which it proposed to lay before the Legislature of British Columbia, requesting that the present methods of taxation for school purposes be altered. The memorandum shows that the taxes at present are very unfairly balanced, so much so that it is a common thing for owners of real estate to abandon their land rather than pay the excessive taxes. One striking argument for redistribution was given in the case of a group of farmers and owners of land who were paying 18 per cent of their total income in taxes. Another group of ratepayers, who were merchants and tradesmen, were only charged at the rate of one per cent of their income. Numerous statistics were quoted, all showing the same balance, and making altogether a strong case. The British Columbia municipalities are convinced that the fairest way to assess the taxes is upon the basis of income, thus placing the burden of the taxes upon the shoulders of those who can bear it. The council endorsed the memorandum, and unanimously agreed

Control Heavy Snowfall at Port Alberni

PORT ALBERNI, Jan. 30. — During the past twenty-four hours, eight inches of snow have fallen here ending the cold spell. Rain commenced to fall this morning and the streets and roads are in a slushy condition.

Mayor J. Johnstone, district engineer, has had the snow-ploughs in steady use, keeping the road over the Alberni Mountain clear of snow.

that the local M.P.P., Mr. C. P. Davis, should be requested to support it when it comes up before the Legislature in Victoria.

The secretary of the school board reported that they had accepted the resignation of Mr. John Lowrie, and so there was now a vacancy on the board.

The question of holding an election to fill this place was left over until the next regular meeting, as the council had not yet decided whether such a course would be necessary.

The finance committee made its regular fortnightly report. The sum of $2,091.22 was passed for payment. The reports of the streets committee and the electric light committee were received and passed as satisfactory.

By-law No. 159 received its third reading. The by-law is to authorize the city to borrow from the bank the sum of $15,000 for current law-law expenditure for municipal purposes.

The council as a whole was appointed as a Court of Revision to hear any objections to the assessment, on Saturday, February 8, at 7 p.m.

ROYAL OAK HAS VESTRY MEETING

Encouraging Reports Received From All Departments—Officials Are Elected for Year

St. Michael's Church, Royal Oak, held its annual vestry meeting on Wednesday evening, in the Church Hall, with a record attendance. Rev. William Comley, vicar, presiding.

After the minutes of the last meeting had been read by Miss K. Butt, the financial statement for the year was submitted by Mr. R. H. Butt, people's warden, which showed a fair balance on hand after all claims had been met. These last year had been heavier than usual, including final payment on Church Hall, wiring and installation of electric light, in the church and hall, a new furnace for the church and repairs to the vicarage. Reports from the various departments were most encouraging and showed that the congregation as a whole had made considerable progress during the year.

Mrs. William Trickey gave a very good report of the Prospect Lake Sunday School branch, which has at present seventeen members and is held in her own home. The vicar paid a tribute of appreciation to the work of both Mr. and Mrs. Trickey, and expressed regret that owing to poor health, Mr. Trickey for the first time in thirty-three years was absent from the vestry meeting.

Mr. Comley spoke of the faithful service rendered by Mr. Jackson as organist, which has continued over a number of years, and which was highly valued by both choir and congregation.

A vote of thanks was passed and tendered the W.A., to the warden and to Miss K. Butt for valuable assistance with the books, and Mr. Pettit as auditor.

Mr. R. H. Butt and Mr. W. Stone were reappointed churchwardens. The church committee is as follows: Mrs. Comley, Mrs. Jackson, Miss K. Butt, Mrs. Mead-Robins, Messrs. H. C. Oldfield, G. Pettit, Parker, J. Strutt, W. D. Coffey and G. Love. Representatives to Synod: Mr. R. H. Butt and Mr. G. Pettit, alternates, Mr. Burbridge and Mr. W. Stone, auditor, Mr. Pettit.

A standing vote of sympathy was passed to Mr. Carmichael, who for a number of years has been one of the auditors, on the death of his wife, who passed away recently in Victoria.

The question of holding evening service the first Sunday in the month was discussed, and it was decided to discontinue for a time. The A.Y.P.A. then took charge after the business meeting and presented a short but delightful programme, which included: Piano selection by Miss Riley, an amusing reading by Lionel Foster, vocal selections by Mrs. Comley, with Mrs. Jackson accompanying, and a piano selection by Maurice Foster.

Mrs. Dona Young was in charge of the competition for which Mrs. Jackson won a prize for the highest number of points, following which the young people served refreshments.

Officers Are Elected By Community Club At Qualicum Beach

Dr. D. H. Kress said at a dinner in Cleveland:

"Leagues of various kinds are obliged to employ collectors, and if they don't choose their collectors carefully they get hold of men with morals like—well, like the story."

"Three of our church collectors," said the dean, "had to resign because they were caught helping themselves out of the collection plate; so then we got a new collector, a one-armed chap, but he quit us, too, last week—said he couldn't make it pay."

Paying a tribute to the work of Canadian women in achieving a distinctive national character, Mr. Gerald V. Pelton, K.C., of Edmonton, national second vice-president of the Native Sons of Canada, addressed a crowded assembly in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium last evening. He spoke of the homelike qualities of Canadian women, from Nova Scotia to British Columbia, and believed that perhaps the greatest contribution which the Canadian Daughters' League could make would be to preserve the ideal Canadian home life and to cultivate interest in Canadian literature, history, music and other cultural things, which make up the soul of a nation. He rejoiced that, notwithstanding her success in the political and commercial world, the Canadian woman retains her femininity and has never developed a militant type of mind.

Mr. Pelton said that in the task of unifying Canada and Canadians, to which the Native Sons of Canada and members of the Canadian Daughters' League had consecrated themselves, they will apply the spirit of the Canadian women in the home, not to dispute and divide, but to harmonize and to humanize conflicting interests.

Quoting Andrew Carnegie, who, in 1921, before the St. Andrew's Club, New York City, described a Canadian as "a man without a country, being a dependent of another nation," Mr. Pelton contrasted the Imperial Conference definition of the autonomous communities within the British Empire, "equal in status and in no way subordinate to one another." These words emphasized our dual character, first as subjects in common with the blacks of Africa, the Chinese of Hong Kong, the Hindus of India, the Australians and the Irish, of His Majesty the King. But, said the speaker, no man is a true Canadian if he is satisfied only to be called a British subject. In fact there is some doubt as to whether the term "British subject" any longer properly applies, as it is probably more correct to say that there are Canadian subjects, Irish subjects, Australian subjects, etc.

Mr. Pelton called attention to the resolution of the National Council of the Native Sons at Winnipeg in 1929 when they asked that "Canadian citizen" should be definitely defined in all legislation as meaning a native born citizen, a naturalized citizen and also the adopted British subject who takes a declaration of Canadian citizenship after five years' continuous residence.

Mr. Pelton pointed out that at present the British subject can vote after one year, but can be deported within five years, and we have the anomaly that a man might be eligible to sit in Parliament and still be subject to deportation. A declaration of citizenship would give an opportunity for complete equality of all adopted British subjects who wish to be known as Canadians, and would not deprive those who wish to continue to be known as English or Scotch or by some other exotic term from exercising that right, but they would not be Canadian citizens.

ALIEN LABOR ACT

Mr. Pelton said that a resolution of the national council, asking that the Alien Labor Act be made applicable to all countries outside of Canada, had been in effect adopted at Ottawa.

In regard to Privy Council appeals, the Privy Council could continue to serve a useful purpose as an interdominion court, settling disputes between Canada and Newfoundland, or some other Dominion, but as a final court of appeal between subjects in Canada, a court over which we have no power of appointment or control is incompatible with the dignity of a sovereign state.

The agitation for a distinctive national flag, first sponsored by the Native Sons, is now generally applauded throughout the country, although credit is not given to the Native Sons for its initiation. It was suggested that movies and talks might be nationalized and pictures encouraged to commemorate such historical events as the jury trial of Joseph Howe, when the freedom of the press was vindicated; the gathering of the Fathers of Confederation; the expedition of Canadian aviators to the North; the interior of the Memorial Tower of the Parliament Buildings at Ottawa; and the Canadian Senate in action and repose.

United States was described as being principally economic and a more flexible credit system was urged, that Canadian genius might receive financial encouragement at home. Tracing events in Canada for three hundred years, the speaker said that we had developed a Canadian race and that our orators, poets and statesmen had revealed qualities of genius not surpassed in the annals of history by any other race.

SEATTLE, Jan. 30.—The United States coastguard cutter Unalga, which arrived here on Wednesday, is now in drydock for survey and repairs to her hull.

The Unalga struck a reef between Sound Island and Olga Point, at the southern end of Neva Strait, at 11:35 a.m., January 21. She sent out an SOS distress call which was picked up by the American Mail liner President Pierce. The message was relayed to ships and stations on the Pacific. The Unalga was floated off the shoals in a short time and went to Sitka under her own power. Lieut. N. S. Haugen is temporarily in command on the Unalga, which has her station at Juneau.

BUCKS AND ESKS BATTLE TO SCORELESS DRAW

Semi-Finalists Will Be Named in Island Badminton Today

Close to One Hundred Matches Scheduled in Championship Tournament at Armories—Some Great Playing Is Expected

The Vancouver Island badminton tournament will resume today at the Armories with close to a hundred matches slated to be carried out in the various championships. Starting at 11 o'clock this morning, with two singles matches, the seven courts will be occupied continuously throughout the day and when the last match is concluded around 11 o'clock this evening, the semi-finalists in practically all events will be named.

Although the favorites survived the first day's play, it is doubtful that today's fixtures will be recorded on the score sheets without at least a few of the select players going down to defeat. Where competition is expected to be the keenest is in the women's singles, in which the first round will be played. The first singles match of the day will bring together Miss Anna Kier, of Duncan, and Mrs. S. Rice, of the same town.

Miss Mona Miller, one of the local hopes, will take on Miss Blythe in another match that should attract considerable attention. The Garrison Club champion, Miss H. Nicholson, will have to be in the best of form when she takes the court against Miss Birch, of South Cowichan. Miss Marjorie Leeming, Up-Island titleholder and a strong favorite to annex the laurels, will appear in her initial match against Miss F. Oates, of the Garrison Club, as her opponent.

LENEY TO PLAY

Eric Loney, of South Cowichan, meets H. W. J. Patterson, of the Garrison Club, in his first men's singles match, while Diron and Appleby, of Duncan, also make their appearance against Woods and Gibson, respectively. Easeth, of Duncan, and one of the strongest threats from Up-Island points, is billed to stack up against Hanbury. Competition in the men's doubles, women's doubles and mixed doubles will be much sharper today than in the opening rounds. The first rounds of the junior boys' and girls' events will be carried out during the afternoon and the performance of the youngsters will be watched by the officials, as this is the first year that these events have been placed on the programme.

The Mrs. Ismay and Gordon vs. Miss Weeks and Huxtable match, scheduled for 11:45 a.m., has been changed to 7:15 p.m., while the Appleby and Aiken vs. W. Patterson and Cox match, scheduled for 2:45 p.m., has been put back to 8 o'clock. In the draw which appeared in Thursday's Colonist, instead of Flett playing Gibson and Sheppard playing Kimmond, it should have read Flett and Gibson vs. Sheppard and Kimmond at 5 p.m.

Tomorrow afternoon the championships for 1930 will be named and Mrs. Sutherland Brown will distribute the trophies and other awards following the final. The tourney will come to an end with the tournament dance in the officers' spare mess in the Armories. A large attendance is expected and tickets are available at The Colonist business office, Terry's Drug Store, Mrs. C. H. Rayment by phoning 6696L1, or Bud Hocking.

LUMBERMEN TO MEET DUNCAN HERE TONIGHT

Clever Up-Island Cage Team and C.P.S. to Clash in Semi-Final of Lower Island Knock-Out Series

PLAY-OFF GAMES ALSO SCHEDULED

Duncan's senior band of cagers will lock horns with the C.P.S. of the senior "A" City League division, this evening in the semi-final of the Lower Island knock-out series at the Victoria High School Gymnasium in the feature attraction on the programme.

In the opening game, Foresters will clash with Fouries in the first round of the "C" city playoffs, while Sons of Canada and Keating will meet in the second game in a regular scheduled men's "B" fixture.

Duncan, the clever quintette that eliminated the Capitals from the Island series by a lone point, have a smart crew of ball handlers and will take the floor slight favorites to win over the lumbermen. The Up-Islanders have chalked up victories over most of the local senior

Dan Daly Dies at St. Louis—Fought Ninety-One Rounds to Draw With White in 1896

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 30.—The death of Dan Daly, sixty, feather-weight fighter of four decades ago, in St. Louis yesterday, recalled to the fathers and grandfathers of present-day Omaha fight fans his memorable ninety-one-round draw with Tommy White in 1896.

The fight, held here December 7, 1896, is in the record books as the second longest in history. In those days it was considered more or less of a disgrace if the battle did not end in a knockout victory. Accordingly, when, at the end of the first round, the referee decided that the two gladiators were too weak to continue, he called the fight a draw, and each fighter was fined $500 because it had not gone to a knockout.

During the fight the hands of both men were broken and each was so badly bruised that weeks were required for recuperation.

Each battler received $300 as his share of the $5000 purse, after the $100 in fines had been deducted.

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

January 30 is the birthday of 600,000,000 People.—The Chinese religious New Year, which coincides with the first moon after the sun enters the constellation Aquarius (January 30, 1930), is celebrated as the common birthday of the total population of China, Japan and Korea, conservatively estimated at about 600,000,000 souls. In these countries the moment a child is born it is considered one year old, until the beginning of a new calendar year when he is immediately credited with another year. This also explains one of my previous statements that a Chinese baby born on New Year's Eve will be two years old on New Year's Day.

Yankees Not Slicing Salaries of Players

Conditional Contracts, However, Have Been Offered to Several Men—Ruth's Autograph Not Yet Received by Management

BY WALTER TRUMBULL

(Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance)

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—A visit to the offices of the New York Yankees yesterday disclosed the fact that this club has done no salary cutting.

In spite of the fact that it failed to win another pennant, it is true that there are a number of players at the club who are around a smoky hotel room playing bridge, or indulging in other amusements.

It also is pointed out that few players of prominence are too tired after a hard season to tour the country playing exhibitions.

The difference is, of course, that in these post-season games the player is upheld by the tonic of his share of the gate receipts.

The exhibition games, which always have seemed injurious to me, are those played in the North just previous to the opening of the regular season. Here is where muscles are strained and ankles are turned.

EASE UP IN PRACTICE

In mere practice, the players take things easier and don't put themselves under any sudden tension. They have a few days to accustom themselves gradually to the difference in temperature between the North and sunny South.

More than once a man has come up from the training camp in good condition only to suffer an injury in an exhibition which affected his play for the remainder of the season.

It was in this fashion that Frank Chance received the final injury which retired him from active baseball. But it usually is the youngsters rather than the veterans who suffer. A training camp takes its toll, both at the training camp and later. He isn't trying so hard to make a good showing. He knows that no pennant ever has been won at a training camp and also that the season consists of 154 games. So he is inclined to take his time and favor as much as possible the arms and legs which enable him to draw a salary.

But the youngster knows that to have any chance of breaking in as a regular he must make his reputation in the comparatively short time between the opening of the training camp and the opening of the race. Where age merely defends a position, youth attacks.

Which is why the world does move.

BROOKLINE, Mass., Jan. 30.—Eighteen-year-old Mianne Palfrey, third eldest of Brookline's five tennis playing sisters, today reached the championship round of the women's National Indoor singles tourney by defeating Miss Edith Squigley, of Boston, the 1928 champion, 3-6, 6-1, 7-5.

Miss Palfrey will clash in the final Saturday against the winner of the semi-final match between Mrs. John B. Jessup, of Wilmington, Delaware, who was top seeded, and Miss Margaret Blake, of Lenox, the defending champion, who will match strokes tomorrow.

LACOSTE READY TO AID DEFENCE OF DAVIS CUP

Big Bill Tilden Declares French Star Completely Cured of His Recent Illness

CHAMP WILL NOT PLAY FOR U.S.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Rene Lacoste, the most machine-like of the great tennis stars, is entirely cured of the illness that kept him out of the Davis Cup challenge round last year and is planning another international campaign this season.

Lacoste, an American champion, now playing in the tournaments along the Riviera, writes in the current issue of American Lawn Tennis that, far from retiring from the game, Lacoste expects to play in the French and English championships again and to take his old place on the tricolor Davis Cup team.

TILDEN NOT ON TEAM

This is the most reassuring news of Lacoste received since last Summer, when a stubborn cold bordering on influenza prevented him from playing at Wimbledon, and then kept him out of the Franco-American battle for the Davis Cup. Complications followed. Lacoste spent some time in a sanitarium and many felt that his court career had come to an untimely end.

Tilden said Alain Gerbault, veteran tennis player and lone ocean navigator, and the English tennis expert, A. Wallis Myers, were the sources of his information that Lacoste is now himself again.

With Lacoste and Cochet once more heading the French defence forces, the task ahead of the United States and other challenging nations becomes increasingly difficult. "Big Bill" points out.

Incidentally, Tilden announced himself annoyed that his name was included on the list of Davis Cup squad members issued some weeks ago, and repeated emphatically that he will not be available for the United States team.

STRENGTHEN DOUBLES

Tilden says further that the French are working to bolster their team in the doubles.

It was in the doubles last year that the Americans made their most impressive showing against the defenders. Johnny Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison defeated Henri Cochet and Jean Borotra in straight sets.

Tilden's prize protégé, Wilbur F. Coen, Jr., of Kansas City, will join "Big Bill" on the Riviera soon, being booked to sail on the Bremen tomorrow.

Coen probably will be Tilden's regular doubles partner, as Frank Hunter expects to confine his European playing this year to Wimbledon, if he goes abroad at all.

MALONE SIGNS CUB CONTRACT

Speedy Ball Merchant in Hurry When He Finds Pay Raised—Looks Hartnett Over

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Pat Malone, the speedy ball king of the National League, dropped over to the Cubs' office in Chicago the other day to sign his contract, which called for an increase that almost staggered the big pitcher.

Malone has put on twelve pounds during his winter rest.

Hartnett had recovered the loss of his throwing arm, which was dead all last season.

Malone went over to the gym where "Gaby" works out every day and he was delighted to see his old battery mate. Hartnett is the idol of the Cub players because he is so vigorous and competitive.

"Gaby" working out under the eye of a physician, tossed the ball around for Malone's delight. Pat claims the light and heavy weight championship of Canada. The bout will be the feature match of an all-star programme of three and three fours at the Seattle Crystal Pool, sponsored by Austin & Bishop.

Efforts are being made to get Tuffy Griffiths to come to Seattle to meet the winner of the Dillon-White match.

Tie Puts Portland On Even Terms With Vancouver Sextette

Twenty-Four Penalties Handed Out by Referee as Teams Go Through Extra Session to Scoreless Draw on Rose City Ice

PORTLAND, Jan. 30.—Portland and Seattle battled three periods and an overtime session to a scoreless tie in a Pacific Coast Hockey League contest at the Coliseum here tonight. The one point gained by the Buckaroos through the tie sent the locals back into a deadlock with the league-leading Vancouver Lions.

The Bucks took to the ice without the services of Jack Pratt, big defence player, but even against a weakened line-up Seattle could not break through. The Eskimos had few close shots, and when they threatened the net, Goalie Andy Aitkenhead was right on the job. The marksmanship of both teams was decidedly off.

Referee Ion kept the whistle on the players from start to finish. There were no major penalties, but Ion dealt out twenty-four of the minor variety in the three periods and overtime session. Of this number Portland received ten and Seattle fourteen. One reason that neither team flashed a scoring threat was because they played with but five men on the ice most of the time.

Seattle had the greater number of direct shots at the net. Winkler, Seattle goalie, was called on to make thirty-two saves against forty-five for Aitkenhead. Buck net man.

Portland will remain at home for a week's rest. The Bucks do not play again until next Thursday, when they meet Victoria here.

The Line-Ups

Seattle: Winkler, Goos, Altkendrick, Benson, Defence, McGoldrick, Savage, Defence, Burke, Walker, Centre, Conn, Sutherland, Wing, Teel, Anderson, Wing, Lyons.

Carnera's advantage in height will amount to three inches, and he will outreach Rioux by four inches.

"Whenever I look at you I think they've put in a new bunker on the course," said Rube, returning the compliment.

Flying Frenchmen Nose Out Hawks, 1-0—Maroons Whitewash Leafs, 3-0, as Americans Set Back Cougars, 3 to 2

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—The New York Americans came back from a long losing streak tonight to defeat the Detroit Cougars 3-2 in a spotty National Hockey League game.

It was New York's first victory in seven games. The contest alternated between bursts of brilliant speed and periods of dull inaction and most of the goals came at the end of a slow spell.

Americans: Goal, Cougars: Worters, Defence, Noble, Simpson, Defence, Rockburn, Himes, Centre, Goodfellow, McVeigh, Wing, Cooper, Shepherd, Wing, McCabe.

MAROONS BLANK LEAFS
TORONTO, Jan. 30.—Montreal Maroons blanked the Maple Leafs in a hot and fast National Hockey League game here tonight, final score being 3 to 0.

Accurate and fast shooting by the Maroons brought them out in front, while the lack of this important factor was responsible for the Leafs' defeat.

Northeast started for the Maroons scoring two goals, one in the second and one in the third period.

RAY BARBUTTI IS REINSTATED

America's Only Victor at Olympic Games Sends Apology to Amateur Union Dukes

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Ray Barbutti, former Syracuse track star who won America's only victory in the flat races at the 1928 Olympic games with a dive into the cinders at the finish of the 400 meter run, is once more an amateur in the good graces of the Amateur Athletic Union.

He was suspended nearly a year ago until he "proved or refuted" certain statements that some amateur athletes received excess money for appearing at track meets.

He was reinstated last night at a special meeting of the Metropolitan A. A. U. registration committee, when he presented a written apology.

The Gamest Act I Ever Saw

As Told by Jack Sharkey to J. P. Glass

"The gamest thing ever I saw in the fight game," said Jack Sharkey, "was Jack Dempsey climbing back into the ring after Luis Firpo had knocked him through the ropes that night in the Polo Grounds."

"Dempsey is one of the gamest fighters that ever lived. Being able to lick Firpo after taking that blow—a right punch to the jaw—proved it."

"The fans always had admired Jack's courage. But I believe his recovery after Firpo did more to make him a great idol than anything else he ever did. It showed he had the heart of a lion."

"I was talking with Dempsey not long ago. The subject of his battle with Firpo came up."

"If Luis had known how to use his left that night," said Jack, "he would have taken the championship to South America."

"Well, Jack ought to know all about it. From what he then told me, I think he is right."

"I don't think the average fan has ever really understood the situation Dempsey was in when Firpo hit him on the jaw with that fearful right-hand punch. It wasn't merely the physical effects of the blow that might have proved disastrous; there was psychology to be considered."

"Jack's own story is that he was practically out when he succeeded in re-entering the ring."

"I was so dazed and groggy," he told me, "that I wasn't sure where I was. Climbing through the ropes, looking at the dazling overhead lights struck me squarely in the eyes and almost blinded me."

"But Jack said that this wasn't the worst of it. When he faced Firpo, with his mind beginning to clear again, he got a fresh shock."

"He found he couldn't raise his right arm!"

"My opinion is that this was the first test of his fighting heart. Thinking quickly, he managed to get the injured arm into a position which would conceal the fact that it was useless. Then he lifted his left to a position in front of his jaw and dropped his head a bit, so that his chin was as well protected as was then possible."

"That was where a good left might have made Firpo champion; but he had to lead with his right. Jack said he managed to stumble inside the punch. It was like finding a safe harbor after a stormy voyage at sea, he added. His brain cleared out completely and his arm began to recover. Quickly he was back where he had been before Firpo nailed him—and more dangerous than ever because he knew exactly what he was fighting against."

"I've often taken off my hat to Jack. A fellow with the least bit of yellow in him never would have come back from that punch. Yes, sir, Jack furnished the gamest stunt I ever saw in a ring in that fight."

"He went out of the ring between the second and third rounds."

Prices of Leading Issues At N.Y. Make Recovery to Reach New Levels of Year

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—An irregular recovery in stock prices, which lifted the index of ninety leading issues to a new high level for the year, shared speculative interest today with the renewed collapse in wheat and cotton futures to new low levels for the season. The volume of stock trading set a new high level for the year at 3,645,010 shares with the renewed collapse in wheat and cotton futures to new low levels for the season. The volume of stock trading set a new high level for the year at 3,645,010 shares with the renewed collapse in wheat and cotton futures to new low levels for the season.

In the stock market, final quotations disclosed a long list of net gains ranging from 1 to 11 points, interspersed with a number of 1 to 1 point declines.

U. S. Steel common crossed $18 to a new high on the current recovery, but fell back to $18.25, where it was up fractionally.

Auburn Auto, all but 1-1/2 points of its extreme gain of 11 points. Establishment of new low levels for the year by French francs and Dutch guilders featured the regular exchange market. Sterling cables were slightly firmer around $4.85-8. Spanish pesetas lost a small part of yesterday's gain, being quoted around 12.25 cents.

Increased activity in foreign bonds and in a few convertibles tended to lift today's bond market out of the rut. However, the movement of prices in domestic corporate issues continued along irregular lines, with the rails still meeting moderate pressure.

WILL NOT MEET CUT IN PRICE

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)
Mid-Continent producers will stand as a unit to oppose a general reduction in crude oil prices, and under no circumstances will meet the cut of 17 to 41 cents a barrel announced by Carter Petroleum, subsidiary to the Standard Oil of New Jersey. It was stated yesterday by E. B. Reeser, from Tulsa, where he participated in meetings called to consider the crude oil price situation. Mid-Continent producers are using every effort to curtail production and have reached the point where the withdrawal of crude from storage is indicated. Reeser stated that the Bank of England has made no change in its discount rate of 5 per cent.

A factor which has contributed greatly to confidence in the oil order stocks is the knowledge that the leading interests in the industry have been endeavoring by co-operation to eliminate the wasteful methods which so materially cut into earnings last year. This prepayment of freight has been eliminated, and this item alone was an important factor in reducing earnings. Furthermore there is a possibility of agreement among the biggest mail order systems with respect to new retail store locations. Notwithstanding the persistent weakness in Radio, there appears to be quite a demand for the stock on the way down. Part of this buying may be attributed to short covering, but there is also evidence that many former friends of Radio have been re-entering the market.

What is meant by the term "cutting the melon"?

What is the effect on stock prices of "cutting a melon"? I find that many people believe that the price will stay the same after division of stock. Also comment on how stock reacts when ex-dividend might be indicated.

By ARTHUR L. ELWORTH

Greenbaum Sons Investment Company, Chicago

Under the term "cutting a melon," I would include extra dividends in the form of stock splits. The effect of these "melons" on stock prices cannot be told by any definite rule.

If a sound, well-managed company votes valuable privileges for the stockholders, it is a favorable effect on the stock price. The first stage is the period of rumors that valuable rights will be distributed to stockholders. Leading stockholders may have intimate knowledge of the possibility. Strength in the market for the stock is taken to confirm the rumors, for it will be said that the insiders are buying the stock with reference to the distribution. Traders and professionals catch the cue and buy. The combined demand effects an unusual advance in the price of the stock. Frequently this favorable effect is discounted before it is announced to the public, by "insider buying" or buying which results in general knowledge by the public that something is in the air for the stockholders of that particular company.

Announcement to the public of such privileges has frequently the effect of pulling the stock in question to unwarranted heights from which it suffers a sharp reaction. In short, the stock is overbought on the favorable announcement, and the price declines. This is one of the reasons why the new stock split usually sells at a relatively slightly higher figure than for which the old stock is selling at precisely the same time.

If a stock is split two for one, it obviously will not stay the same; if a 10 per cent stock dividend is declared, the stock will usually sell lower after the stock dividend is in effect. Simply declaring a 10 per cent stock dividend does not make the company automatically 10 per cent more valuable in the market, means, however, that business for the company is favorable enough to warrant the retention of surplus profits for expansion, which is really the purpose of the sound condition of the company.

TRIBUTE TO KING

Mr. Pattullo, referring to the recovery of the King took occasion to say that not only had His Majesty endeavored himself to all his subjects, but he had shown himself a statesman of high rank.

The Leader of the Opposition rejoiced that the Premier had fully recovered his health. He said that the Attorney-General had not been well. He described him as one of the hardest workers.

A compliment was paid to Col. Peck, V.C., with special stress upon his recent visit to London to attend the dinner given by H.R.H. the Prince of Wales.

Referring to the Government after a year in office, he said some had expected little of the Government, and had not been disappointed. A few had expected much, and were disappointed.

RUTHLESS AND PARTISAN

He said the administration had showed itself most ruthless and cruelly partisan in its character. This was not in the civil service alone. The civil service suffered from restraint under the Government because they feared "the goblins will get you if you don't look out." Outside of the civil service, he added, new justices of peace and other officials were dismissed, and new ones appointed. It savored of justice being tainted at the fountain head to have this condition.

The Government had, he believed, launched upon an elaborate programme of public work in order to distract public opinion from its misdeeds.

FROM MONTH TO MONTH

He charged the Government with financing from hand to mouth in order to make ends meet. It had floated $6,000,000 in two short terms, when the financial institutions were balking with money. Yet the Government paid 5 1/2 per cent. Then there had been another $5,000,000 floated, and $7,000,000 of floating liability on current account. The Government had, he said, juggled the accounts today to pay current account. The taxes had increased, and it would be necessary still to increase taxation to meet the reckless expenditures in the province.

"It is all well to have good roads," said Mr. Pattullo, "but it is costing large sums."

The statement that the present Government was the most partisan ever in power was greeted with laughter from the Government benches.

The reference to the progress made in the past year by the Government could have been just as correctly said with respect to any one of the last twelve years," said Mr. Pattullo, in referring to the speeches made by members of the Government, praising the situation in the province.

THE MIGRANT SPARROW

Mr. Pattullo retorted from speeches made by the Prime Minister and others. He referred to one letter to the Prime Minister had used from Mr. Sparrow, in California, announcing the return of himself and other Canadians from the South where the Government came into power.

"Where is that sparrow now, I wonder," said Mr. Pattullo, "or the hawk?"

The people of British Columbia did not elect Dr. Tolmie to quarrel with the Government at Ottawa, said Mr. Pattullo, criticizing the statement of the Premier that his Government was behind Mr. Bennett to see it returned to power. This might endanger the influence of the province in negotiations with Ottawa.

Mr. Maitland asked as to Mr. Pattullo's activities for the Federal Liberals when he was Minister of Lands.

"I stumped the country as a Liberal, and not as Minister of Lands," returned Mr. Pattullo. The administration was always blaming others. It had appointed all kinds of commissions to go into matters which it promised to go into itself. The reports were evidently so unsatisfactory that the Government was ashamed of them, because they had not been seen.

QUESTION OF CREDIT

Mr. Pattullo contended that the present ministers assumed power when they only had "to walk in and hang up their hats." The former Government took power in war times, and had to grapple with the postwar conditions. This was done with a depleted treasury. He was with a depleted treasury. He was with a depleted treasury. He was with a depleted treasury.

LACK OF COURAGE

Recalling pre-election speeches by Hon. J. H. Macpherson, the Leader of the Opposition described the Government as not having courage to do anything.

Various other ministers' statements were also recalled, in which reports had appeared as to what would be done with a change of Government. These were received with laughter from both sides of the House.

The reference to legislation that would result in the young Canadians in the United States "seeing the lights in the homes here and coming home," brought from Mr. Pattullo the query as to whether "night clubs" were to be opened.

Dealing with the timber business, the Leader of the Opposition said he had told a gathering of 700 lumbermen that the timber industry would never be stabilized except by dealing with the off-shore trade.

Later, by sending a commissioner to England a market for seventy million feet was found in England. That had set the industry in a condition where never again would it be in the doldrums as in the past.

FISHING RULES

Referring to the fishery matter, he said it was necessary to have fish to eat, and to see that as many as possible were engaged in the industry should make a living out of it. The policy of Mr. Howe, he contended, would put the fishermen out of business and would not conserve the fish.

Mr. Pattullo argued there was no royal road to farming, and it could only over a period of time be possible to build up the industry.

The Sumas area was referred to in the speech and the matter was said to be under consideration.

After nearly two years that was not enough. The public wished to know what the Government was going to do. Was it going to sell to a company at a low price, or what would it do?

He felt that it was extraordinary for the Prime Minister to refuse the report as to negotiations with Hon. J. H. Thomas regarding immigration.

"This Government has no idea of constitutional government. It believes in the strong arm," he added.

ACCESS TO DOCUMENTS

The Leader of the Opposition complained that when he wanted to see special public documents, he went to a clerk, who said he was fast to have to see the deputy.

"Why go to the clerk? Why not to the minister?" asked Mr. Pooley.

Mr. Pattullo said the ministers were busy men often, often in executive. He went on to say he was sent from one to another until he reached the minister, who refused.

There might have been some excuse if the documents asked for had not been used by the Government, but they had. Even parking privileges were refused one at the Building House. He complained that documents were being withheld from him. There were archaic practices which had come down that should be wiped out.

WILD LAND TAXES

On the question of wild land, Mr. Pattullo said the taxes from this source were going down. He was not certain that a lowering of the tax would help, as wild land was fast becoming something that was not sought.

The problem of irrigated lands was one that was made more difficult to solve by the last Government by the representations made by the Conservative opposition of that time.

But when the present Government came into power it had to face this fact, and appointed as a commission one who had been interested in these lands at one time. The Government was not satisfied and another was appointed. The matter being left as the old Government policy intended, it would have been settled. Mr. Pattullo disapproved of the appointment of a market agent in London when the province had an agent there.

P.G.E. SURVEY

Dealing with the situation as to the P.G.E. Railway, Mr. Pattullo contended that there was no need of the special survey in spite of the fact that very useful knowledge would be obtained from it.

The C.P.R. president did not believe the time was ripe for the building to the Coast from the North. The C.N.R. regarded the North as its particular field, and it would appear as if the C.P.R. was anxious to delay construction until it suited its plans to construct. The special survey would cost perhaps $500,000, of which the province would have to pay one-third.

He wished to know to whom the added powers of the water board "had worked satisfactorily," as set out in the Speech of His Honor. "Were there not indications that a strange hold was being taken upon the water power of the province that would cost the province millions?" To whom was the act working satisfactorily, to the utilities companies or the consumers? asked Mr. Pattullo.

The present Government had run behind more millions since it came into power than had the former Government, he asserted. The Government was proposing to license various lines. This would evidently make more jobs for the "boys."

BROKERAGE SITUATION

The Leader of the Opposition called upon the Attorney-General to take steps to deal with the stock brokerage situation.

Mr. Pooley explained that the Leader of the Opposition knew that there was no legislation on the statutes when the late Government went out of power.

Mr. Pattullo said the proceedings elsewhere were taken under the Criminal Code.

Mr. Pooley differed, and said it was under special acts.

He went on to say that he had been in close touch with the situation and had taken steps which he felt were in the interests of the country. It was not advisable that conditions in Canada should be thrown into confusion by hasty action.

Mr. Pattullo did not think that aspect need give concern.

He said that with regard to liquor, the Government seemed to be paying the way for the bringing of the liquor board under the Government.

"Government control," interjected Mr. Pooley.

Before closing Mr. Pattullo informed the Premier that the Opposition was prepared to let the motion pass forthwith so that the business of the session might be proceeded with.

The Opposition was hungering for something to be done, he said.

All such rooms are reserved for the proletariat, though another decree just issued provides that workmen must have a minimum of 80 per cent of the living space in all new houses, the remaining 20 per cent will be available to students, clerical workers, and practitioners of professions such as medicine and science.

Simultaneously the Government is nationalizing all the remaining private houses which are owned by non-laboring people. Workmen will be allowed to retain houses not exceeding certain dimensions, but other houses fall before the victorious Communism which terms them class enemies.

The prospects of the evicted families of the disfranchised of securing other quarters in these chilly days are therefore slight. Like the Kulkas, they fall before the victorious Communism which terms them class enemies.

of unemployment relief cost, on the basis of agreements entered into in 1921 and 1922 and confirmed in 1924, provinces and municipalities or cities would divide equally the other two thirds. The Dominion administration has contended that their stand was based on the agreement of 1927, by which unemployment would be a provincial matter, but the conference held that the 1927 situation was not parallel to that now existing.

Every city from Lake Superior to the Pacific Coast was represented and Government delegates to the parley attended from British Columbia, Saskatchewan and Manitoba. Unable to send a representative, due to the opening of the Alberta Legislature, Premier J. E. Brownlee telegraphed to the conference that Alberta would support the meeting decision. The Dominion Government was not satisfied and another was appointed. The matter being left as the old Government policy intended, it would have been settled. Mr. Pattullo disapproved of the appointment of a market agent in London when the province had an agent there.

Concert Given by Primary Department

The concert given by the primary department of St. John's Sunday school on Wednesday evening resulted in over $50 being raised for the parish hall fund. The hall was well filled by the parents, friends and members of the church and the presentation of a first-class programme made the evening an enjoyable one.

The children and their friends taking part in the varied programme were loudly applauded for their charming presentations of dances, songs, plays, etc. A unique series of tableaux in the form of living pictures was a feature of the performance. In this series the tableaux entitled "Britannia," featuring Miss Jean Newcome as "Britannia," with Master Elmer Curtis and Lionel James supporting her, earned round after round of applause from the audience.

In his capacity as chairman, Rev. Canon F. A. P. Chadwick referred in warm terms to the work of the primary department being carried on under the direction of Mrs. S. C. Hawkins and her assistant, Miss Iris Kirby, to whom the success of the concert was largely due.

During the evening the members of St. John's A.Y.P.A., under the convener of Miss K. Smith, dispensed candy.

DESCRIBES WORK IN ARCTIC SEAS

Capt. J. E. Bernier Tells of Adventures When Planting Flag in Farthest North

MONTREAL, Jan. 23.—Expeditions which planted the British flag on islands north of Canada were reviewed by Captain J. E. Bernier, the veteran Arctic explorer, in an illustrated address in Victoria Hall under the auspices of the Notre Dame de Grace Women's Club. Captain Bernier who has been a master seaman for sixty years, told of being taken on his father's ship between the ages of three and seven years, after which he went to school for five years. At the age of seventeen, he was master of one of his father's ships, and has followed the sea ever since. In his travels he gathered a considerable library, and his readings about the expeditions of Franklin, Parry and other explorers aroused enthusiasm to undertake an expedition into the North.

VALUE NOT RECOGNIZED

For a time, Captain Bernier said, the Canadian public did not seem to recognize the value of the islands in the Arctic, and it was at first difficult to convince the authorities to carry out his plans. The success of such an enterprise depends, the lecturer pointed out, on a good ship, a good crew, and good equipment to last for the period required. His second expedition lasted five years.

Captain Bernier expressed faith in the value of the Hudson Bay district and some of the islands to the north. There is a rich vein of coal, he said, awaiting the future needs of the country. There is a good deal of iron and some oil is found while a fishing industry may be one of the future developments.

The captain discussed various points of interest in connection with the features of the Arctic district. Much information has been derived from records, found in caches by previous explorers, and Captain Bernier before leaving the Arctic left caches of records at several points on the islands.

The lecturer described how the Eskimos, from whom he received valuable information, reacted to the news that when the flag was planted on the islands the Eskimos became Canadians. They did not think much of their new status at first, but a good meal on shipboard convinced them it was good to be a Canadian.

INTERESTING VIEWS

Many interesting views were shown of the ship Arctic at various points in the expedition. Captain H. Kellett's cairn on Dealy Island, Sir John Franklin's monument, seal and big game hunting, a number of coins proving previous presence of English and other explorers long before, also a radiogram from Captain Pets are great carriers of cancer, according to the Westmoreland Field Commission for Cancer Research. In a preliminary report in the current British Medical Journal, the commission states that the most striking discovery has been the prevalence of cancer among all kinds of animals and birds, and particularly the horse, cow, sheep, hog, cat, dog, hedgehog, rabbit, mole, rat, mouse, chicken, turkey, goose, owl, canary and toad. An instance of infection given is that of a woman of Colby, who had spent all her life breeding fowls. She developed a type of cancer which was found precisely similar to an outbreak among her poultry.

"Bravo," said Clive. "That is the stuff to give us. I don't know how you worked it out when the other chaps gave up, but I am not going to try to pump you when you have been good enough to tell me so much. If it comes off it will be tremendous news for the Glenties."

Cobham nodded. Evidently he had taken a fancy to Clive.

"You know, sir, that an officer of the police has the right when necessary to call anyone to his assistance."

"Absolutely. You can count on me any time you want help."

Cobham studied his athletic figure with appreciation. "You could do your bit in a rough and tumble, no doubt, sir."

Clive grinned. "Any kind of a scrap suits me. I am not Gene Tunney, but I have a small punch in both hands when needed."

Cobham passed his cup and took the cigarette Clive offered him. "Do you play golf, sir?"

"Scratch," replied Clive.

"That must mean something pretty good, sir, I suppose?"

"Fair. Are you taking it up?"

Cobham twinkled again. "I think I ought to have a hobby for my old age, sir, and golf will be as good as any. Can you tell me if one can join a club near London easily?"

Clive shook his head. "You would find it rather expensive, what with the entrance fee and annual subscription. In any case, you wouldn't be here long enough to get value out of it. But, you know, there are courses where you can get day tickets and hire clubs. Do you really want to play?"

"I want to try to play, sir."

Clive reflected. If it was true that the superintendent was on the track of the missing funds, his own business in town was not so urgent. Cobham had been surprisingly frank. He had given Clive new heart. Why not show the fellow the ropes a bit?

"I say," he began, smiling, "trying to learn golf by yourself is a bit of a blue egg. Why not let me take you out and give you a few tips? I belong to a couple of clubs."

"That's very good of you, sir."

"Good be hanged! I'd like it. And you wouldn't need to hire clubs. I have a couple of my own. I shall have to cut down on that sort of thing now. We'll have a round tomorrow."

"It should like it very much," said Cobham.

"Right. Are you doing anything tonight? If not, I have a couple of seats for a show, and it will be company for me."

Cobham accepted the offer with alacrity. "I wonder, sir, if you know a golf course at Hestabill?"

Clive nodded. "Played on it once with a pal of mine who lives at Hestabill village. It is a course laid out on the common, so that there is a right of way over it. But there is a clubhouse. Any outsider can play by paying a fee."

Cobham looked down. "I have a fancy to learn there, sir. If it isn't one of the fancy clubs I shan't have any cracks snigger at my expense."

"I know what you mean. I felt that once. Rabbits are nervous, and I was an awful rabbit at first. I'm not much of a golfer, but I still have my ear and we'll drive down to Hestabill tomorrow for a couple of rounds. We can lunch at the clubhouse."

Cobham smiled. "I have never been in a golf clubhouse, curiously enough, sir. Football was my game when I was younger," he observed.

"I should like to see you play," said Clive.

"Right. Are you doing anything tonight? If not, I have a couple of seats for a show, and it will be company for me."

Cobham accepted the offer with alacrity. "I wonder, sir, if you know a golf course at Hestabill?"

"I should like to see you play," said Clive.

"I suppose you have a caterer and that sort of thing?"

"Oh, yes. It's simple enough though. You can feed there, or have a drink, and there are baths for members, and a room or two to put up in."

"Ah, I wondered where they put their things," said Cobham casually. Clive was amused at the novice's interest. "Oh, the rooms are bedrooms. All the members have lockers for their things. However, you'll see it all tomorrow. I'll phone my pal tonight and he'll make us all right—Where do you stay?"

Cobham mentioned a small hotel in Bloomsbury. Clive made a note of it.

"Right. I'll call for you at half past nine tomorrow. We will find the links clearer early in the day."

They adjourned to the smokers' room, and Clive tried to get back to the most interesting topic.

"I wonder why Captain Sherdell accepted the suicide theory," he began. "Do you suppose it was suicide?"

Cobham shrugged. "Cupids could have done it himself, if he had used that dagger."

"Yes, sir."

"I believe the old professor brought it when he was not responsible for himself. I suppose he could have got it from the trophy and smuggled it upstairs?"

Cobham thought for a moment, and then expressed his agreement. "That is one of the funny features of the case and I am not sure if we shall ever clear it up, even if we are on the mark in other ways. You see, the old man was certainly suffering from a mental—"

"Aberration?"

"Yes, that's the word. He couldn't tell us if he had had that dagger—not definitely anyway. What he did in the night he can't remember, and we can only guess at it. It is possible he meant to do a mad fit to do in Cupids, and smuggled the dagger to his room. It's possible he climbed out on the ledge and got in by the window, saw Cupids dead, dropped the dagger, and climbed back. He was wet enough to have done that, you all said."

"But you didn't think he did the actual deed?"

"Expect the best and smile; be cheerful and trouble will give you up sooner or later as a bad job."

"Expect the best and smile; be cheerful and trouble will give you up sooner or later as a bad job."

"I believe the old professor brought it when he was not responsible for himself. I suppose he could have got it from the trophy and smuggled it upstairs?"

Cobham thought for a moment, and then expressed his agreement. "That is one of the funny features of the case and I am not sure if we shall ever clear it up, even if we are on the mark in other ways. You see, the old man was certainly suffering from a mental—"

"Aberration?"

"Yes, that's the word. He couldn't tell us if he had had that dagger—not definitely anyway. What he did in the night he can't remember, and we can only guess at it. It is possible he meant to do a mad fit to do in Cupids, and smuggled the dagger to his room. It's possible he climbed out on the ledge and got in by the window, saw Cupids dead, dropped the dagger, and climbed back. He was wet enough to have done that, you all said."

"But you didn't think he did the actual deed?"

"I am sure he didn't. However important that dagger looks, it seems to have no real bearing on the murder. Some one dropped it in his room, but it wasn't used to kill Cupids."

Clive nodded. "I see. Since you put it that way, and taking it for granted that it was not suicide, the only theory I can see is that a man climbed up a rope attached to that grapple, did him in and got away. That was your idea, I know—is it not possible the murderer got away with the bag?"

Cobham nodded assent. "So far as it goes, I am on that line, sir. But this is all in strictest confidence. You understand that, I hope."

Clive held out his hand, smiling. "There's my hand on it. I really appreciate your telling me this very much. I have been worried about the Glenties. It isn't only for Miss Glennie. She is young and strong after all."

"And will probably soon find some one anxious to take care of her, sir," said Cobham slyly.

Clive grinned rather self-consciously. "I mean the father, Colonel Glennie, is in a different position. He's a chronic invalid, and knocking about won't do him any good—Well, if you have finished, I'll go. I have a man to see, and in the evening you can wait for me in the foyer at the Princess Theatre. I'll be there sharp at eight."

"Thank you, sir," said Cobham. "I'll enjoy that very much. And I'm looking forward to our game of golf tomorrow."

"Yes, sir."

HEAR TESTIMONY FROM CANADIANS

Experts of Dominion Give Evidence on Behalf of Dominion at Trail Smelter Inquiry

WASHINGTON, D.C., Jan. 30.—The International Joint Commission sitting to obtain evidence for a report upon the damage suffered by property owners of Stevens County, Washington State, through sulphur dioxide fumes, from the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company's smelter at Trail, B.C., on Wednesday afternoon began to hear the result of the investigation made by the Canadian Government.

Representing the Canadian Government, Hon. N. W. Rowell, K.C., reiterated a statement made earlier that the sole interest of the Canadian Government in the case was that all relevant evidence should be made available to the commissioners.

Mr. W. N. Tilley, K.C., counsel for the Consolidated, had previously remarked that in his opinion no expert testimony of damage had been placed before the commission by complainant interests.

FLOUR OUTPUT HAS EXPANDED

Total Number of Mills Operating is 1,315, With Capacity Daily of
118,316 Barrels

Judged by the value of its products, flour and grist milling is one of the most important individual manufacturing industries in the Dominion. And it is natural enough that it should occupy this position when it is remembered that Canada is principally an agricultural country, and that the chief raw product is wheat.

Flour milling in Canada dates back to the very early days. The first permanent Canadian settlement was made by the French at Port Royal, now Annapolis, Nova Scotia, in 1605. In this year and at this spot the first wheat ever grown in Canada was raised; and here, in the same year, the first water wheel to turn a millstone for the grinding of wheat on the North American continent was erected. For three centuries there has been a mill on this site.

With the growth of settlement in New France other mills were erected. Early census figures give the number of mills in New France during the French period as nine in 1665; forty-one in 1685; thirty-nine in 1695; ninety in 1721 and 118 in 1734.

The colonization of Upper Canada naturally led to the construction of mills for the grinding of grain produced in the new settlements. One of the earlier mills was built at Niagara Falls in 1786, and another was established about the same time at Napanee.

During the period from 1830 to 1840 the flour and grist milling industry in Canada became firmly established. During the years 1831 and 1832, census figures show 393 mills operating in Lower Canada and 319 in Upper Canada.

ROLLER MILLING
An important factor which influenced the milling industry in Canada was the introduction of roller milling. Up to this time, small and large mills had been on an equal footing in as far as the process of manufacture was concerned. Large scale production in milling in Canada really began with competition between the two processes, stone and roller. Many of the small mills were unable to compete with the larger mills in the production of flour and either disappeared or were transformed into chopping mills.

By the eighties the roller process had secured a virtual monopoly of the flour milling industry. Elevators began to spring up at railway points, and the grain was sold and shipped a grain to be ground at the large milling centres. This was coincident with a steady decline in the price of wheat, and the older sections of Canada became more and more devoted to mixed farming. The livestock, dairying and fruit industries expanded as a result of this development.

VAST SUPPLY OF WHEAT
The opening of the West provided the vast supply of wheat needed by the new milling industry. With the extension of transportation facilities more and more new wheat became available for agriculture. The high quality of Canadian wheat became recognized throughout the world, and Canada's huge export trade in wheat and its products developed. With the increase in the available supply of wheat, and the extension of markets, the milling industry has grown apace.

The total number of all mills operating in Canada today is 1,315, with a total daily capacity of 118,316 barrels of flour. Of this, over 115,000 barrels per day are represented by 109 large merchant mills. Canada possesses the largest flour mill in the British Empire with a daily capacity of 13,000 barrels. The largest Canadian milling company controls a daily capacity of 23,000 barrels. And there are still over 1,000 mills of medium and small capacity, including the little country grist mill, which has by no means disappeared. Of these there were nearly 600 operating in Canada last year.

Even our upper classes are rather short on biblical knowledge. A young millionaire and his wife were telling the other day about their tour in Spain. "The Prado was wonderful," the young man said.

"What did you like best in the Prado?" said I.

"A Correggio," he told me. "A masterly oil painting of Adam and Eve in the Garden, with the apple and the serpent."

Then the young man's wife said with a superior air: "Yes, that painting interested us especially because, you see, we knew the anecdote."
